tack the works in three places, and had a well-laid plan to destroy the whole plant.

The deputy sheriffs were soon in readiness to receive the attack. The men were di-

Captain Lear, who was in command, will

The stable where the bodies are lying has been surrounded all day with strikers and friends. Persons who understand their language say their threats were fear-

Cable Message From the Italian remier-Interview With the Italian Embassy at Paris—What the Na-tional Zeitung Says—Impossible to Get an Interview With Minister

Rome, April 2.—The Marquis di Rudini the Italian premier, to-day sent another sable message to the United States on the subject of the New Orleans troubles. This Bloodshed in the Coke Reessage is addressed to the Marquis Imeriali di Francavilla, the secretary of the talian legation at Washington, into whose nands the current business of the legation was placed when Baron Fava, the Italian ninister presented his letters of recall Marquis di Rudini instructs the Marquis Imperiali di Francavilla to hand the mesage referred to Mr. Blaine, the secretary tinerary of the President's of state of the United States government The message is a reply to Mr. Blaine's last note, and in it the Marquis di Rudini says that Italy has asked nothing but a prompt institution of regular judicial proceedings against the guilty parties at New Orleans. He adds that it would have been absurd to claim punishent for the offenders without the antees afforded by a regular trial. The diplomatic incident, the Marquis di Rudini continuing, says, can only be considered closed when the Federal government has declared in precise terms that the prosecu-tions will be commenced. In the meantime the Italian government takes cognizance of the Federal government's declaration acknowledging the fact that compensation is due to the families of the victims y virtue of the treaty existing between Paris, April 2.—The councillor of the Italian embassy here, Signor C. Ressmann, in an interview to-day with an Associated Press correspondent in regard to the recall of Baron Fava, said: "If Mr. Blaine has nedged himself in with the plea of nonfive hundred men began rioting at the tandard works. They destroyed some of ossumus and has refused to satisfy Italy emands Baron Fava will receive an un limited leave of absence and nothing fur-ther will trauspire. That is the extreme limit of action to which a European gov-ernment can have recourse when it desires to show that it is dissatisfied with the lines of the coke company so that no United States. Italy will not make war."

BERLIN, April 2.—The National Zeitung

ROME, April 2 .- All endeavors to obtain the opinion upon the present crisis be tween the United States and Italy of the Hon. A. G. Porter, the United States min-ister here, have proved futile. Mr. Porter declares that the rules of international comthem to halt or he would fire upon them.

Their answer was to fire a volley in the direction of the deputies, none of whom were seriously injured. Captain Lauer then gave the order to fire. Two volleys were firedbefore the mob broke and ran. Seven ster placed in the position that Mr. Porter is now placed in.

Their gestures, fiery eyes and quickened language surely indicate their anger. All over the region the most intense excitement prevails. Great crowds are coming in on every train, and the highways are so thickly peopled as to almost resemble a passing procession. It was openly declared by the strikers this afternoon that they will have revenge for their companions. They have for the time being transferred their attention from the plants to the deputies whom they vow they cabinet ministers are in receipt of a large number of cablegrams and letters from to the deputies whom they vow they will kill. They say at the same prominent Italians in New York city urging moderation upon the Italian govern-ment in its treatment of the New Orleans

Word has been passed to the strikers all over the region that the shoot-ing was without provocation; that no vio-lence had been offered and their anathesence had been offered and their anathemas on hearing these reports are deep and strong. Peter Wise, master workman of the district; James McBride, secretary, and W. P. vents in our own country have quickened the interest felt in naval matters and the report of the recent naval engagement in Chili. A fact that at once attracted attention among these officers was the failure of the fish torpedo. Our own cruisers are nearly all furnished with devices for sjecting these auto-mobile torpedoes, but stances of their practical utility are scking, and it was not comforting to the orpedo enthusiasts to learn that the toredo in this case has missed its target and destroyed a drydock probably worth half a million of dollars, in which the insurgents who are at sea, and who directed the torwho are at sea, and who directed the tor-pedo at the foe were probably more deeply interested than the government forces which are mostly on land. It was perceived that these weapons might, as had been feared by some officers, prove to be dan-gerous boomerangs that would destroy the vessel that ejected them or another of their own squadron. Then, too, the offi-cers who had leaned to the belief that tor-pedo heats would prove to be a powerful pedo boats would prove to be a powerful means of defending our almost unpro-tected ports were surprised to learn of the ease with which a simple sloop of war— the O'Higgins—knocked such a craft all to es at one broadside. The terribly tructive effect of one modern heavy ordas was also the fact that the forts man aged to chase away the sloop of war with ease. Altogether, the engagement has not been without profit to our naval officers, who are awaiting with interest an official report of the affair from some of our own ships at present in Chili.

Dear sir-While thanking you for your courtesy, I cannot attend the meeting because I have no sympathy with its pro-fessed purpose. I had supposed that my opinions upon the tariff question had been iquitous tariff, and the retention of the tariff limited to the necessities of the government economically administered. I try—industrial, agricultural and commer-cial—demand the establishment of that cial—demand the establishment of that tariff policy declared and particularly defined in the national democratic platforms of 1876, 1884 and 1888, and I am earnestly opposed to the attempt which is now being made in some quarters to undermine the sound and conservative position of the democratic party upon this question, and to commit it irrevocably to the doctrine of free trade. The men who are engaged in this effort, no matter how honest or sincere they may be in their individual concere they may be in their individual con-victions, have no right to longer masquerade as true democrats, while seeking to commit the party to a policy which it has always distinctly repudiated and which if adopted must inevitably, in my judgment, effect injuriously the welfare of the country and unfit the democratic party for the maintenance of those wise principles of government of which it has for nearly a century been the proud and un-yielding representative. They greatly mistake public sentiment who assume to construe the revelation last autumn at the polls as a popular manifesto in favor of radical tariff legislation. It was so far as the tariff was an issue a popular out-burst against excessive duties, against restricted markets, against war taration for the benefit of favored industries, but only blind theorists could see in it any

In my opinion such movements only embarrass and endanger the cause of tariff reform. I am Very truly yours,

Congressman Jerry Simpson, the speak er of the evening, was next introduced. He said it was like the dawning of a new era to see so many people come out. He said that protection meant that the government mistrusted the people and were afraid that they might make bad trade. The speaker then entered into a discussion of free trade with all the warmth he was capable of. In the speaker's opinion tariff reform, by a reduction of the taxation, was anything but proper. Free trade was the only reform that was needed. The speaker said it was time for the coming of a new Thomas Jefferson and for the adoption of a new declaration of independence. Mr. Simpson took occasion to score "Senator-Governor" Hill for his anti-free trade tactics and deprecated the fact that so man members of the Farmers' alliance still be leved that they were being protected. Mr. Simpson thought that all the tariff should be removed and the railroads managed by the government. Congressman Simpson's the government. Pike of the Scottish Rite Masonry

-Sketch of His Life. WASHINGTON, April 22.-General Alert Pike, grand commander of the Scot-

Scotland for this country, died this evening at the home of the supreme council of the organs of the throat, which has prevented him from taking either food or brink since March 21. It is said that General Pike has appointed Josiah H. Drum-mond of Maine as his successor as head of the Royal Order of Scotland, and it is probable that his successor in the Scottish Rite will be either General J. M. Browne, . S. N., Thomas H. Caswell of Califoreaving college to become principal of Newburyport Grammar school. In 1831

Among those most seriously wounded are: Albert Brosek, Casper Seman, Josef Schultz, Albert Cid-vic, Josef Napan and Steve Kobechen. THE CLANS GATHERING. The clans had been gattering all night, the noise of their drums and yells, with an occasional pistol shot, being heard on standing the many great all sides, while signal rockets and flashing lights were occasionally seen in the hills. The mob marched first to the Standard works, destroying telegraph and telephone wires, and everything that they could lay hands on. Then they proceeded 1,200 strong to the Moorewood plant ed 1,200 strong to the Moorewood plant where a body of determined men were known to be on guard. As they approached the works their noise ceased and they gathered in a bunch on the Black Hills overlooking the plant for a moment's parley. Then they quietly separated, one large detachment advancing on the works by the main road while the others scattered over the brows of the hill, and shortly after 3 o'clock at a given sig-others scattered over the brows of the hill, and shortly after 3 o'clock at a given signal all moved down on the works.

The night was one of inky blackness, but the guards were appraised of the movements of the attacking party by confused mutterings in a foreign tongue, or subdued orders from the leaders. Suddenly a break was made by the advancing mob toward the fences of the company. A stern order "halt" rang out, but the only answer was the firing of three shots by the mob, which whistled close to the ears of the guard. After the shots were fired by the strikers they whistled close to the ears of the guard. After the shots were fired by the strikers they turned and dashed toward the company's stables. Without firing a shot the guards were ordered to follow and the command was again given the strikers to halt. They only retreated further down the road and nawered the order with yells and threats.

only recreated further down the load and nawered the order with yells and threats. Again was the command given and gain came the mocking answer, and the order to fire was given by Captain Loar.

The volleys from the Winchesters were well directed, and but few rounds were necessary to drive the frightened rioters back into the hills, where hundreds of their comrades had gathered. The firing on both sides continued hardly three minutes. The volleys from the guards had terrible effect on the compact mass of strikers while the latter made an attempt to return the fire with what few weapons they possessed, but without effect. The dead were left lying in the road, while the wounded, between forty and fifty were assisted or bodily carried away into the hills by their friends.
